REDEMPTIVE EDUCATION: FAQ

How does Boots & Roots differ from K/1st in Scent of Water?

Both Scent of Water and Boots & Roots are outdoor educational programs rich with learning of all kinds. There is a purposeful overlap in the ages for Boots & Roots (4-6) and those of typical K/1st (5-7). Some children within these age ranges will continue to thrive with a shorter school day and time to mature....

PARENTS SHARE EXPERIENCES

For the first time in his life, my child is enjoying school, especially all the outdoor time. Learning appears to be happening naturally for him. I think he is learning the most about Christianity/Bible memorization. He has also learned a lot of geography so far. My son loves the creek and woods. I talk about the Center for Redemptive Education all the time to friends!...

SLEEP

By Janine Buser

This week we began studying how humans sleep and comparing our habits to the plethora of animal sleeping habits we've already learned. The trio of lessons fully embodied the four distinctives of a Redemptive Education: biblical, relational, integral, and experiential...
